Tempe News Notes

A BASEBALL-LESS SATURDAY TODAY

With the Tempests preparing for University Week and the Pedagogues without a scheduled conflict, this is an open day in Tempe baseball. It is almost something unusual, for since the intercollegiate season opened barely a Saturday has passed without either the normal or the high school playing on the home grounds.

The Tempests, in view of some forenoon games next week in Tucson are going to work out this morning and get somewhat accustomed to the morning sunlight. School will close on Tuesday night and close to a half hundred of the Tempests, including the ball team and representatives in other activities will leave bright and early Wednesday morning for the Old Pueblo. An interclass game is the best attraction the Pedagogues could make up for today, despite the earnest attempt of Coach George Schaeffer to match a game with some other valley school. The first and third years are scheduled for a battle this afternoon.

OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

"For the Honor of a Woman" another film of adventures of the serial, "Under the Crescent," will be presented at the opera house tonight. Another splendid Metro feature will also be shown comprising a big eight reel program. Special orchestra music is also a feature for tonight.

AT THE TEMPEAN TODAY

Chapter eight in The Girl and the Game series is a popular attraction of the matinee and evening shows at the Tempean theater today. During Helen Holmes is again presented in some of her most daring acts and with this picture are shown four other interesting films of comedy and drama.

TEMPE WEDDING

A quiet wedding took place Thursday evening at the Christian church parsonage, at which the bride and groom were J. B. Kuykendall and Mrs. Griffin, of Vienna, Ill. The bride arrived in the valley that morning to join Mr. Kuykendall, who has been spending the winter here. They have taken up housekeeping at the A. A. Walsworth home on East Sixth street.

FROM THE COAST

Mrs. Curt W. Miller and daughter, Mrs. E. V. Wellington, arrived in Tempe yesterday morning from Pasadena for a visit with Mr. Miller.

VISITING DAUGHTER

Mrs. Butterbush arrived in the valley yesterday forenoon from her home in Chicago for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Westover.

IT WASN'T A FIGHT
John Nelson has been on the streets for the last two or three days with a bruised up face on which shows a freshly healed wound. Mr. Nelson's quarrel was not with any man but when he walked up in front of a colt he was having shod, the animal reared and pawed him in the face, cutting a very ugly gash which had to be sewed up. In coming down the colt landed on the gentleman's foot, bruising that member badly.

MISSED IT

It has been said with somewhat of wisdom that "You never miss the water till the well runs dry," and from queries yesterday concerning the failure of the Mesa department to furnish any news, it is evident that readers of The Republican are used to the Mesa portion of their morning bill of fare. It was not the fault of the department. A real readable lot of items were delivered to Bert Price, local manager for the Fike line and he at once handed the envelope to a handsome genial conductor of the line, known to his many friends as "Forney." The copy never reached The Republican office and when questioned yesterday Forney couldn't remember anything about it. In his genuine distress over the loss the young man reached into an inner coat pocket where he carries the envelope and drew therefrom several long, narrow, dainty, sweet-scented, plump, little envelopes that looked as though they had come every day as regularly as the Republican. Well, anybody fortunate enough to get letters in that dainty, scrawly feminine hand is justified in being a little absent-minded occasionally, and then, too, it is easy to understand how a big coarse masculine manila envelope full of common news items would be so embarrassed among all those dainty femininities that it would sneak out of the pocket and jump from the car. It is suggested that Forney try another place among his cigarette makings for such ordinary stuff.

LEFT FOR PRESCOTT

Walter G. Hill, formerly manager of the Mesa branch of the Walter L. Hill Produce Co., left yesterday with his family for Prescott where they will remain. Mr. and Mrs. Hill made many warm friends among the Mesa people and their departure is much regretted.

Dionysius.....Dr. J. B. Nelson
Democles.....C. J. Laib

Arlia.....Miss Ruth Myers
Lucullus.....Russell Hobson
Child.....Master Hart
Soldiers, senators, etc.....Members of K. of P. Lodge

W. O. W. NIGHT

At the Thursday night meeting of the Woodmen of the World, T. W. Nealon, consul commander of the Phoenix camp, was present and addressed the members. He extended a special invitation to all to be present in Phoenix on April 15, at which time there will be a joint session of all the lodges in the state. Competitive drills will take place and the local team is seriously considering what they will do with the $1500 cash prize war they win it. There were two candidates initiated at the meeting.
